Leverington Common, Wisbech.		There are already too many premises licensed for off sales. This ease of access to cheap alcohol is fuelling the street drinking culture that is ruining the image and reputation of our town and affecting the way local residents use the Town.	Yes	X		Not need for public houses. Street drinkers purchase their alcohol as cheaply as possible not at pub prices.		X	x	х	Intoxicated people are not in control of their actions, thus the anti social behaviour in all its forms experienced in Wisbech. This is having such a detrimental effect on the area residents feel parts are now 'no go' for them.		X	X	X

Appendix C would give my full support to the councils efforts to restrict the number of Off licences within Wisbech. I work within walking distance of Wisbech Town Centre and regularly walk into town during my lunch break. If you access the town centre via any of the small passageways other than the main routes there are always signs that people have been drinking or in fact are drinking in these tucked away areas. This does not lead to a secure feeling for people and must be affecting the number of people who use the town centre for normal purposes Χ Χ Χ Χ Χ Χ Χ Χ Χ Χ Χ Χ like shopping, visiting banks etc and therefore must lead to less support for the local businesses of which there are already too few. It is time to start turning the tide in Wisbech which has been declining for many years. Church Mews Wisbech		We have 21 places able to sell alcohol already and there has been street drinking issues as published in the fenland citizen this year.	Yes	X	Just Right	As we already have far too many premises selling, if FDC seriously considers more selling, it will make the Polices' job more difficult as one person for example who has been refused alcohol has 20 other places to attempt - at Christmas, Sharon in the co-op refused sale to someone on suspicion of supplying to a minor, if said person could make lots of attempts it kind of defeats the object and breeds anarchy.	Yes	Applicants should have to join the radio scheme (which for example QD is in) that alerts shopkeepers to undesirable customers such as thieves or arrested citizens known to the police as street drinkers. They must prove they are fully aware of alcohol selling laws. Applicants should operate the 'challenge 25' policy whether they wish to or not.	show they are willing to incorporate programs for example our supermarkets	and.gov.u k/askfenl and/imag es/att413	Yes- Street drinking is a serious issue in this area, park drinking is a serious issue, urination in public is a serious issue, alcohol sales to minors has been going on in the area. Namely the comments made in response by Sgt Dave Bax and it has to be said we have far too many places that can sell alcohol anyway. I oppose any more licenses being granted and would be very interested to see how another applicant could be successful as someone who is refused in one place already has 20 more options around here to try and get served! Also I do sometimes have to watch where I step on church mews as I could be treading in urine or on a drinks can but this has been addressed		X	X	X

Meadowgate Lane Wisbech	Yes	At present it appears that most licence applications are permitted with no consideration of the cumulative effect this has on the Town Centre and it environs. The amount of empty beer cans and the ASB in town is growing. There must be a correlation between the growth in litter and ASB and the increasing number of licensed premises.
